

languor: noun

definition:

- physical weakness or faintness
- emotional softness or tenderness
- lack of energy or vitality
- lack of spirit or interest

languor

pronunciation:

lang ger

languor

synonyms

- laziness
- languid
- sluggishness
- weakness
- fatigue
- apathy
- torpor

languor

related forms:

- adjective

languorous

- adverb

languorously

languor

The man slumped over, his languor getting the best of him.

languorous

Languorous after being pulled in different directions all day, the men sprawled in the chairs.

languorous

After shopping all day, the woman was languorous and slept.

languorous

Languorous after a long day at work, the man needed recharging.

languorously

The boys lounged languorously, too exhausted to listen to their lecture.

languorously

The boy rested
languorously
in the hammock.

languorously

The man languorously reclined on the couch, ate dinner, and watched television.